

Introduction to Logic (9th-12th)

Tutor: Sarah Wilder

Email: sarahhw18@gmail.com

Phone: (937) 681-9247

Course Description

Students will learn to identify common fallacies, build basic logical syllogisms, and analyze arguments. In doing so, students will develop an ability to express themselves logically and defend their own views, as well as understand and engage with others' viewpoints. Students will take this learning and apply it to present day cultural arguments, learning to defend a biblical worldview in a clear and concise manner. This class is a perfect way to equip your high schooler as he or she prepares to enter college and/or the workforce, ready to not only be an excellent student or employee, but also to defend his or her own faith in God.

Biography

Sarah Wilder is a wife, mom and a freelance writer. Formerly a reporter at the Daily Caller, she graduated with her degree in Liberal Studies from Thomas Edison State University in 2019 and her Masters of Arts in Politics from Hillsdale College in 2022. She is a member at a local Orthodox Presbyterian Church in southwest Michigan.

Materials

Introductory Logic: The Fundamentals of Thinking Well Student Edition:

https://www.amazon.com/Introductory-Logic-Fundamentals-Thinking-Student/dp/1591281652/ref=sr_1_1

(The book is available on Amazon or Canon Press for $31.99, but Amazon frequently runs discounts. The book is often available used on Ebay for a lower price.)

Tests, quizzes, and other handouts will be provided to students by the instructor as needed.

Tuition and Drop Policy

$195 due on the first day of the fall semester

$195 due on the first day of the spring semester

Refunds will be issued if the class is dropped 3 weeks after the start date. No refunds will be issued after 3 weeks.